

It's 2:15 a.m.

How can you be certain you're protected?

2:15 a.m. How can you be certain you're protected?

We're known by the Security we keep.

Citadel Security offers all-encompassing security services to the Commercial, Industrial, Transportation and Construction sectors as well as Residential Associations. We create professional, customized security solutions designed to fit the specific needs of Southern California's economy - both now and in the future.

Our level of service and professionalism far exceeds standard solutions.

Our top management has 20 years experience in the security industry with the widest range of clients, from small and local to multinational. We are rigorous in our selection and training of personnel, with extensive and thorough pre-employment tests and background checks. We maintain 24/7 monitoring services, always staffed by trained, competent professionals. Our security and monitoring products have been proven on-the-job, assuring consistent and effective electronic surveillance. And we maintain a Code of Ethics that guarantees the highest level of service and performance to all our clients.

Our Mission: Citadel Security provides our customers with peace of mind by designing and implementing innovative, integrated security solutions. We care deeply about our customers and must validate the trust they place in our company by maintaining the highest integrity, honesty, and ethical standards at all times.

5:55 p.m. Who hasn't left the warehouse yet?

A Security Resource for all reasons.

Citadel Security offers all-encompassing security services to the Commercial, Industrial, Transportation, Construction sectors and Residential Associations. Custom security programs range in scope from scheduled drive-by visits to detailed DEGGY™ patrols where officers scan various check points during a comprehensive security tour. Guard shacks or comprehensive security centers may be staffed by Citadel officers 24/7. At Citadel Security, we combine human diligence with the latest technological advancements to create world class security solutions for enterprises of all types.

Commercial Services

Citadel Security offers protection for commercial businesses of all sizes and types. You may only require random or scheduled facility checks. You may require video surveillance of your site and access control. Your location may only need attention during days and hours when your own personnel are not present.

Industrial Services

Industrial facilities large and small benefit from our watchful eyes. Access control is a feature of our program design. All rules and regulations of your plant will be enforced and appropriate actions taken by our officers. External and internal threats to your property will be observed and thwarted.

Transportation Services

At dispatch locations, vehicle traffic will be scrutinized at points of access and authorized for departure and/or arrival as you require. Warehouse and dock, rail yard or airport, our officers and our technological applications will provide professional and thorough security. In this age of elevated threats, Citadel Security is ready to provide peace of mind and protection in this critical industry.

Construction Services

At both your home yard facility and at construction sites, Citadel Security offers protection for your invested time and equipment. Vandalism and theft can be reduced or eliminated. Our officers can alert responding agencies to damage or destruction due to fire or natural causes.

Residential Services

Citadel Security understands the unique situations faced by Southern California residential associations. We are familiar with the residential association decision-making process and are well equipped to offer cost saving advice in crafting the perfect security solution.

10:47 p.m. Is that noise from equipment, or something else?

What's behind the Citadel Badge?

Our clients benefit from superior staffing, training, services and support that mean real protection, not just filled uniforms. Clients' security needs are carefully examined and studied and each client is assigned a Security Team that is led by the Account Manager. We match our field officers to each client. The Security Team includes an Employment Supervisor who recruits, interviews, establishes credentials and conducts thorough background checks of security officers. All are thoroughly trained and familiarized with the client's property and posted for a two-week trial. They are then evaluated. If the officers are performing as required, their assignments become permanent.

As part of Citadel Security's Quality Assurance Program, Field Inspectors randomly check each account to assure that all officers are performing their duties as assigned. Officers are in direct contact with our Dispatch Center and Field Supervisors via hand-held digital dispatch radios. On-site officers keep in contact with two-way radio systems and complete daily activity reports. In addition, Account Managers provide quarterly summaries

All potential officers are carefully pre-screened by a professional interviewer and must meet our demanding minimum requirements, including a high school diploma and over 2,000 work hours. Then, each applicant must pass an extensive background check, including Social Security verification and criminal records search. Following that, each officer begins a rigorous and thorough training regimen including Company Orientation, Security Training, and On-Site Account Orientation. Only then, can the Citadel Badge be worn.

And we wear our badges with pride.

12:05 a.m. Does that truck pulling up at the dock belong there?

Who's watching your business?

At any given moment, somebody may be paying very close attention to your business, your inventory or your facility. You can rest easy if that someone is a security professional from Citadel.

Citadel Security provides businesses and residences throughout Southern California with peace of mind by designing and implementing innovative, integrated security solutions. We know Southern California - a thriving megalopolis teeming with shipping, transportation and commercial activity, with industrial development and population density on the increase. We understand the unique needs of these critical markets.

Our method is to integrate state-of-the-art technology with human diligence to provide you with the most efficient world class security at the lowest costs.

One program does not fit all.

You may require on-site officers, patrol services, or the latest technological innovations. Your account may require one guard or twelve guards. You may require video and motion monitoring. There may be external and internal threats. We are expert at assessing each assignment and crafting a specific security solution that works best for you. And you can be assured that your security team is staffed by trained and competent security professionals at all levels, at all times.

Citadel can integrate technology with security officers and vehicle patrols. Our clients have saved up to 25% annually with vastly improved security after initiating an integrated system! Our Video Management System will monitor, digitally record, search, back-up and transmit using your cameras. We provide a server and state-of-the-art software to bring it all together. Our system can control alerts, locks, and even turn on lights. Monitor your security anywhere in the world, including production, human resources issues, and workers comp events. We can show you how integrating technology will solve your security problems and save you money!

Select Citadel Security, Inc. to provide contract security for your company, your facility or property and you can expect a performance level among the best in the industry. Our clients have made us one of the fastest growing security providers in Southern California. Our high standards of ethics, quality and affordability are the reasons for our success. Let our representative explain to you how Citadel Security can fulfill your security needs. Call us today. There is no obligation.

Citadel Security, Inc.

5199 E. Pacific Coast Highway • Suite 200
Long Beach, CA 90804

www.citadelsecurityinc.com

1-800-994-CITA

PP010979